SEVENTEENTH SUNDAY IN ORDINARY TIME
JULY 27, 2008
“THE REIGN OF GOD IS LIKE A BURIED TREASURE”
-MATTHEW 13:44

Dear Community of Saint Joseph's;

Thank you to all who have given so generously to this year's Bishop's Annual Ministry Appeal. As you know Saint Joseph's BAMA project is to update our church sound system and hearing impaired devices. Sound moves in a complicated way through a space as round and high as the interior of Saint Joseph's. So our preparation process must be carefully designed and executed. The first step is to have a thorough acoustical examination of the church building so that the best determination can be made regarding the type of speakers and maximum placement etc.

Consequently, Mr. Tom O'Brien, our Director of Music Ministry will oversee the sound system improvement. Tom has invited a number of parishioners to become members of a committee to assist in guiding and directing this effort. As the project moves forward Tom will be putting updates into the parish bulletin so that you can be apprised of the development of the project.

Please look for these updates in the coming months and thank you once again for your encouragement and support of this important and necessary parish enhancement.

Questions for reflection or sharing

Adults...

- What is significant to me that Jesus' heart is "moved with pity" for the crowd?
- How do I, like Jesus, serve the needs of others over myself even during difficult moments?

Families...

- What are some examples of Jesus using my little resources—five loaves and two fish—and making them enough for others?

Saint Alphonsus Liguori

Born September 27, 1696, to the nobility, Alphonsus was a child prodigy and received his doctorate in law at age 16. His feast day is August 1. He had his own practice by age 21, and was soon one of the leading lawyers in Naples. As he matured and learned more and more of the world, he liked it less and less, and finally felt a call to religious life. He was ordained at age 29. Noted for his simple, clear, direct style of preaching, and his gentle, understanding way in the confessional. He was often opposed by Church officials for a perceived laxity toward sinners, and by government officials who opposed anything religious. Founded the Redemptoristines women's order in 1730. Founded the Congregation of the Most Holy Redeemer (Ligorians; Redemptorists) in 1732. Appointed bishops of Saint Agata dei Gotti by Pope Clement XIII in 1762. Worked to reform the clergy and revitalize the faithful in a diocese with a bad reputation. He was afflicted with severe rheumatism, and often could barely move or raise his chin from his chest. In 1775 he resigned his see due to his health, and went into what he thought was a prayerful retirement. In 1777 the royal government threatened to disband his Redemptorists, claiming that they were covertly carrying on the work of the Jesuits, who had been suppressed in 1773. Alphonsus defended the Redemptorists so well that they obtained the king's approval. However, by this point Alphonsus was nearly blind and was tricked into giving his approval to a revised Rule for the Congregation, one that suited the anti-clerical government. When Pope Pius VI saw the changes, he condemned it, and removed Alphonsus from his position as leader of the Order. This caused Alphonsus a crisis in confidence and faith that took years to overcome. However, by the time of his death he had returned to faith and peace.
